

China Medium & Heavy Truck Forecast

The most comprehensive analysis and perspective on the Chinese medium & heavy truck market.

LMC's China Medium & Heavy Truck Forecast, produced in association with CENO Auto Consulting, provides an unrivalled quarterly analysis of the current state and future evolution of the Chinese medium and heavy commercial vehicle sectors, covering all major manufacturers in a single user-friendly report. The latest monthly registration volumes are analysed along with key structural developments to generate forecasts of future truck demand. The service provides history and forecasts not only by OEM and by GVW, but also by model, sub-segment and plant of production. As an option, LMC can also provide historic quarterly data further broken down by province and region and by engine fitment and engine manufacturer. This service is an indispensable tool for organisations interested in the Chinese commercial vehicle sector.

The Essentials

- A comprehensive view of the Chinese medium (6-14t GVW) and heavy (14t+ GVW) commercial vehicle sectors
- In-depth commentaries on macroeconomic factors and policy regulations, as well as key drivers to market growth
- Seven-year quarterly and annual forecasts by region, group, make, model, sub-segment (truck, tractor, etc.) and plant of production
- Manufacturer overviews, including ownership, plant layout, product technology, and market share

Deliverables

Four editions of the China Medium & Heavy Truck Forecast per year as well as four downloads of the data and forecasts via LMC Automotive's Interactive Delivery System.

LMC Automotive provides the highest quality global sales and production forecasts for light vehicles and medium/heavy commercial vehicles, along with forecasts of engine and transmission supply and demand.
