

Global Automotive Scenarios Service

In conjunction with:

OXFORD
ECONOMICS

LMC's Global Automotive Scenarios Service assesses the impact of potential shocks to the global macroeconomic landscape, and the resulting effects on light vehicle sales and production. This service provides a means for decision makers within the automotive industry to remain informed of potential risks in the face of a constantly changing global economy.

The Essentials

- Oxford Economics provides analysis on repercussions to the global macroeconomic climate in the wake of potential global disruptions
- In each publication, the range of scenarios considered is updated to include the most relevant global events
- LMC Automotive outlines the effects of these disruptions on future regional and global light vehicle industries
- The consequences are quantified in the form of: adjusted sales and production forecasts, alternative medium- and long-term outlooks, and adjusted GDP growth

Deliverables

Quarterly editions of the web-based report, as well as full online browsing and download access to the report and data via LMC Automotive's Interactive Delivery System
