About BIS Oxford Economics

Founded in 1964, Australia-based BIS Oxford Economics has a strong reputation for independence and quality. BIS Shrapnel was recently acquired by Oxford Economics to form a world leader in global forecasting and quantitative data analysis. With more than 1,200 clients worldwide, we are one of the world's foremost independent global advisory firms, providing reports, forecasts and analytical tools on over 200 countries, 100 industrial sectors, and 4,000 cities and locations. Our clients include leading multinational companies and financial institutions, key government bodies and trade associations, universities, consultancies, and think tanks.

Our team

We employ a highly qualified team of economists, and analysts. All are experts in their field and have decades of experience in covering Australia, ensuring that insights are provided within the context of comprehensive knowledge of the Australian economy and industrial sectors. The rigour of our analysis, calibre of staff and affiliation to leading research groups, make us a trusted resource for top decision-makers.

Custom Projects

BIS Oxford Economics can help clients with private confidential briefings and studies in the following ways.

- Private briefings on the economic outlook for Australia and the global economy at the macro, industry or state level.
- Demand forecasting for budgeting, planning and investment evaluations.
- Economic assessments and evaluations, including financial feasibility studies.
- Researching and writing economic submissions for use in commercial negotiations and in advocacy with public sector and regulating agencies.
- Providing analysis at a more detailed state and regional level drawing on an extensive database of state, regional and industry research.
